

A simple and efficient rescue kit.

The rescuer attaches the victim to the rope and cuts the victim's lanyard before rappelling to the ground using the Druid descender. It is also possible to lift the person up just enough to detach the lanyard and rappel to the ground by means of a single tackle system that can be created by passing the rope through the small carabiner installed for this purpose. Also suitable for rescue on roofs.

All components are CE certified PPE.
