TOOLS SUGGESTED

3/16", 1/4" Allen wrenches and Allen sockets, Inch/Pound torque wrench.

PROCEDURE AVERAGE TIME: 30 MINUTES

STEP 1 Observe the position of the bolt holes in the chrome cover and remove the corresponding Allen bolts from the transmission side cover and access door.

STEP 2 See PIC.1. Disconnect the black plastic clip that holds the two chrome oil lines together. It does not have to be completely removed.

STEP 3 Push the two oil lines toward the front of the bike while maneuvering the chrome cover into position on the transmission. This is an awkward tight fit, but it DOES go (See PIC.2). Do not use extreme force – keep maneuvering the cover until it falls into place.

STEP 4 Using the two stock 1/4"-20 socket heads and the new chrome 5/16"-18 socket head supplied, mount the cover to the transmission. Torque the 1/4" socket heads to 90 inch/pounds, and the 5/16" socket head to 18 foot/pounds.

STEP 5 Replace the black plastic clip on the oil lines.

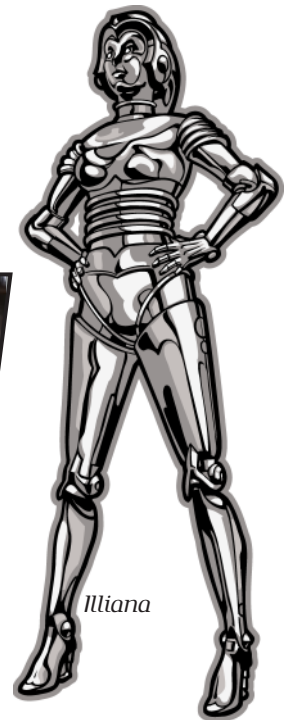

STEP 6 Push the Chrome hot sleeves over the heads of the two 1/4" socket heads. Insert the 1/4" and 5/16" "Hot Spot " end plugs into fasteners.

Ride On!
