

AtlePlus - Back orthosis

ART.NO 50105

AtlePlus is a back orthosis featuring a shaped and adjustable abdominal section. A combination of elastic material and non-elastic material in the front means that the orthosis provides a stable but comfortable support to the lower back while lifting and supporting the abdominal area. Suitable for people with a large abdominal region. The front section can be adjusted on both sides with Velcro closure to secure optimal lift and fit. The orthosis is also suitable for pregnant women as it can be adjusted successively as their abdominal section expands. Elastic straps is secured in the front/lower abdomen with Velcro, adjustable to provide the desired support to the lower back. The two removable back splints can be shaped individually to suit the contour of the back. Color black.
